An Enduring Resource

By Eric Herman

Soon after we published our first-ever Resource Directory last December, we received this comment from a reader: "Thanks for pulling this together. I can't tell you how frustrating it is to work with the big, fat buyer's guides other magazines put together and sift through all the stuff I really don't care about to dig out a few important nuggets. I do have a complaint, however: Why'd you take so long to do this? It's something people who design and build have needed for a long, long time."

To that point, we weren't entirely sure that the Resource Directory would become an annual WaterShapes fixture, but comments like that one prompted us to update it for 2010 – and to see if, in doing it again, we might improve on the concept.

As publisher Jim McCloskey pointed out in this space last year, our goal is to generate a resource that stands apart from others by way of its targeted focus on the needs of watershapers and allied professionals who create exterior environments. We seek to provide you with a compact compendium that's easy to use, free of clutter and packed with supplier information you can use to speed and streamline your work.

This year's Resource Directory is similar in many respects to last year's in that we stuck with a basic approach and structure that clearly worked for many of you. The key difference this year is that the supplier list this year includes more than 680 companies – up from about 610 last year. Frankly, we were a bit stunned as we watched the numbers grow!

Without reading too much into that showing, I like to think this indicates the fact that suppliers value our readers and want to maintain easy lines of communication with you. And I'm certain they're hoping – as do we all – that the phones will start ringing early and often in 2010 and that this Resource Guide will come in handy as the New Year unfolds.

Adding to the helpfulness of the package, we've included Indexes to each of the columns and all of the features we published in 2009. We'll do these short-form indexes in between five-year anniversaries, when we'll catch up and publish complete indexes reaching all the way back to our premiere in February 1999.

No project of this scope passes without several people deserving credit. As was the case last year, the lion's share goes to Robin Wilzbach, usually our production manager, who worked doggedly for months in tracking down essential updates and information. And although he rarely steps into the spotlight, I must make Jim McCloskey take a bow for his persistence in assembling the indexes and managing the details of the Resource Directory's compilation and production.

As we bid farewell (and perhaps good riddance) to 2009, I want to thank you, our readers, for standing by us every step of the way. All that we do is intended to help and support you in your professional endeavors, and I can't begin to express how appreciative we are for your encouragement – and even the occasional constructive complaint. Cheers!

Structures Index: 2009

Eric Herman

As its title suggests, the editor's column opens each issue with the aim of providing readers with a conceptual framework for approaching the feature articles and columns that follow.

When inspired by the content of a given issue, "Structures" has explored the thematic threads that run through the publication. Other times, the column has stepped forward to offer discussions of current events, key industry trends and the magazine's role as an outlet for information and a forum for ideas.

With its "by the trade, for the trade" format, WaterShapes is indeed an unusual forum, and "Structures" has always been the catalyst, offering the perspectives of an observer who revels in the potential the magazine has to advance its industry.

'At every turn, the approaches are practical rather than theoretical, grounded rather than speculative and realistic rather than overblown.'

WATERSHAPES

The complete UV solution for sanitation and dechloramination in semi-commercial and commercial pools and spas

Delta UV
Ultraviolet Solutions

Better for you, safer for the environment

GO GREEN

SOLUTIONS FOR YOUR EVERY NEED

UV technology is rapidly gaining recognition in pool water treatment. The World Health Organization (WHO) and the Centers for Disease Control (CDC) support UV as being the only real available technology for the eradication of Cryptosporidium and Giardia micro-organisms. Stories about pool closures and outbreaks are frequently reported in the news. In addition, consumers are looking for "green" and water efficient solutions. Delta UV is the only company offering such a large range with both technologies and complete certification / evaluation.

Healthier For You And Your Customers

- Deactivates 99.99% of micro-organisms (bacteria, viruses, etc.) and especially chlorine resistant Cryptosporidium and Giardia
- Improved air quality for bathers and pool personnel
- Helps prevent asthma and allergies
- 50-75% reduction in combined chlorine levels (less chloramines, especially NCL_3)

An Installed Unit

More Sales, Higher Profits

- Expand your business by offering a green alternative
- Value for money for pool professionals

- Additional margin thanks to a targetedbulb replacement program

Cost Savings

- 25-60% savings in water costs due to reduced water renewal
- Reduced corrosion in enclosed pools environments
- Pays for itself in 9 to 24 months

Customer Testimonial

"I have been in the swimming pool industry for more than 20 years, and there are few products that have impressed me as much as the Delta UV systems...After some basic plumbing, the installation was virtually plug and play."

UV Water Sanitation and Dechloramination for every pool and spa (50 - 4000 GPM)

ELP SERIES

Delta UV offers a complete line of commercial and semi-commercial pool and spa UV sanitizers. The EM Series and ELP Series are NSF-50 annex H certified and Cryptosporidium efficiency evaluated.

Both series:

- Deliver at least 60 mJ up to the end of lamp's life
- Offer UV-C sensor monitoring, flow control, and temperature sensor, and more

EM Series sanitizes 100 - 4000 GPM
(best efficiency for high-flow rates)
ELP Series sanitizes 50 - 396 GPM
(preferred application for low-flow rates)

Brian Van Bower

Brian Van Bower has long been one of the watershaping industry's most prominent leaders and accomplished teachers, and it is more than noteworthy that he has been represented in every issue of WaterShapes that's ever been published.

In writing "Aqua Culture," he's drawn on a wealth of experience at all levels of watershape design and construction while communicating with authority on topics ranging from personal philosophy and motivation to sales strategies, organization and business and project management – not to mention travel, wine and the culinary arts.

His columns are the magazine's touchstone, infusing it with positive energy, injecting humor, drawing on vast experience and know-how and demonstrating an all-out willingness to explore the realms of creative expression, artistic influence and ideas.

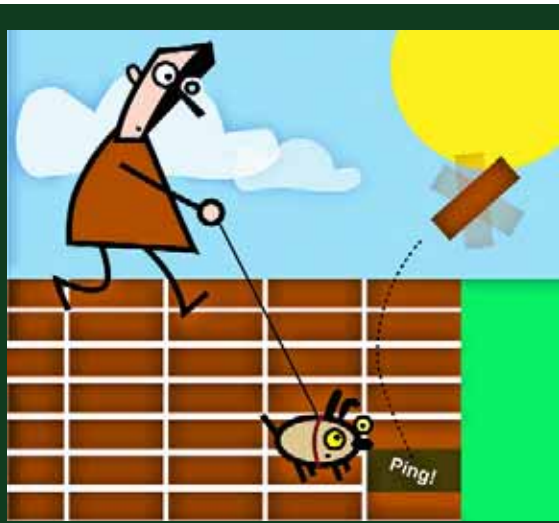
On the Level Index: 2009



Bruce Zaretsky

A longtime contributor to the magazine and a columnist since August 2007, landscape designer, author and teacher Bruce Zaretsky brings a refined yet well-grounded perspective to "On the Level."

In his role as the owner of a Rochester, N.Y.-area landscape design/installation/consulting firm – a firm that, by the way, frequently works with water – he has built a national reputation for creativity in spaces ranging from small backyards to expansive public gardens and was known as an advocate of "sustainability" well before the word had been introduced to most professionals' vocabularies.

Each month, he uses his column to explore the nuances and practicalities of landscape design and installation, examining a broad range of ideas, issues and trends while encouraging watershapers to integrate their consideration of landscaping in developing their projects.

'Landscape architects should know exactly what it's like to dig holes, set bricks, prepare soils for planting, shoot grades and witness the effects of their hydraulic designs.'

The History of Water in Architecture

For more than a decade the Genesis 3 Design Schools have influenced the professional lives of hundreds of watershapers.

Our formula is simple:

EDUCATION+ABILITY=$

"Very practical, good materials to work with. Knowledge of instructors strong. Excellent course. It will definitely help me to do better designs and presentation." Gordon MacFarlane, Developmental Concepts, Inc., Fayetteville, GA

"Instructors were very hands on, very helpful. Every class in the Genesis program has been excellent. The instructors are very knowledgeable and are willing to help during class as well as at the diners and break time."
Scott Dolan, Dolan Pools, Forsyth, GA

"Absolutely the greatest program I've ever attended. Fantastic teacher that really put a great effort in really teaching and caring about the student. I will take the course again and again. Once again my hats off to Genesis 3. What a terrific experience and a week full of knowledge."
Robin Rogers, Rugged Class Waterfall & Landscape Design, Yakima, WA

"There is science to color and there is an obvious line between color combinations that work and disasters."
Rick Katz, Allstate Pools, Westlake Village, CA.

"Gives the student the ability to converse with clients and architects with a greater knowledge of art and architectural time periods."
Steve Dallons, Pacific Pools, Inc., Alamo, CA

Since April 2008, a trio of watershapers have shared the "Currents" byline.

• Mark Holden – watershaper, landscape architect, Genesis 3 course leader, university instructor and longtime contributor of feature articles to WaterShapes – covers a variety of topics as a columnist, including current events and discussions of what it's like to open landscape architecture students' minds to the possibilities of watershaping and persuade them that what they're learning will be invaluable as they move through their careers.

• Dave Peterson – registered civil engineer, consultant and expert in matters related to aquatic engineering – continues his tenure as a columnist by exploring design technology and what's involved in complying with practices and procedures other trades use in preparing their CAD-based plans.

• Mike Gambino – longtime licensed lighting contractor and designer in the field of high-performance, low-voltage lighting systems – dedicates his columns to raising watershapers' awareness of how much value sensible lighting programs add to watershaping projects while sharing basic design concepts and lighting techniques.

This new column is a rotating feast of ideas that will take readers on significant intellectual voyages for months and years to come.

Why Retrofit?
When Safety is Part of the Design, We Can Save Lives Together

With new laws come new products. An opportunity lies before you to broaden your resources and attempt new products which in many ways will outperform the old brands. For your drain cover needs, we suggest our DS 360M Anti-Entrapment Suction Outlet Cover. The only "CIRCULAR" drain cover available made of industry proven UV protected and chemical resistant rigid PVC Material.

The DS 360M cover is designed to retrofit any sump from 5" to 8" in diameter as well as cut off pipes 1-½" to 2-½". Our cover was also designed to cover equalizer lines and still remain "pool cleaner" friendly. With four mounting slots and two versatile mounting kits available; the DS 360M can provide a sound and secure attachment to any of these applications using either our DS 360MAa anchor kit or our Uni-Screw kit with patented security tool.

MADE IN THE USA

Not only is the DS 360M a must have for child friendly applications, it even exceeds the VGB standards by meeting the stringent 1.5 F.P.S. State of Florida Rule at 123 G.P.M. and it's design minimizes hair entanglement and precludes risk of limb and or body entrapment, if installed as per manufacturers installation instructions. This combination of features makes the DS 360M a sure fit for your drain cover needs.

Steve Sandalis: Watershaping For the Rich and Famous

Steve Sandalis has built his company, Mystic Water Gardens in Encino, Calif., largely by creating extravagant ponds, streams and other water-features for Los Angeles' wealthy elite. Their virtually limitless budgets enable his creativity to flow freely—but what are these clients really like to work for? Sandalis gives you the inside story in this special interview.

Judith Corona: Understanding Watershaping's Color Palette

Judith Corona leads a colorful life: Among other things, she teaches color theory and application for UCLA Extension, as well as a 20-hour course on the subject for the Genesis 3 Design Group. In this far-ranging interview, Corona discuses the importance of color in pool design, plus various factors to consider when creating a color palette for a backyard watershape.

David Knox: Let There Be Shimmering Streams of Light

David Knox, founder of Lightstreams Glass Tile, talks about how and why he went from designing lasers for some of the nation's biggest technology powerhouses to creating and manufacturing small, shimmering works of art out of glass for watershapes. To Knox, it has been nothing less than a life-changing aesthetic and spiritual quest.

WATERSHAPES ONLINE

The past year's issues of WaterShapes have seen publication of 40 articles written by dozens of watershaping professionals. The success and value of the magazine extends from the willingness of these experts to give of their time and energy to communicate what they know and what they've learned to other watershapers.

In testimony to the power of the forum, these contributions have come from the mainstream as well as the farthest-flung corners of the Watershaping Industry – from pool builders and pond installers as well as from fountain designers, Japanese gardeners and a range of talented artists, engineers and suppliers.

Note: In this special Index Issue, individual copies of the magazine are referred to using a simple shorthand that calls out the month (or months) of publication and the year, followed after a colon (:) by the number of the item's opening page.

Aquatic Facilities: competitive, May 2009

The diversity of subjects covered during WaterShapes' most recent year of publication is fully on display in this Article Topic Index. The entries demonstrate the full range of interests of the designers, engineers, builders and suppliers who've contributed articles ranging from the minutely technical to the broadest of philosophical discussions.

Assignment of articles to given categories and sub-categories is necessarily a subjective process, but every attempt has been made to fit each article into the topical matrix in multiple categories and sub-categories to reflect the full content and implications of each writer's work.

Mike Farley

Since "Book Notes" first appeared in the spring of 2001, columnist Mike Farley has led WaterShapes' readers on a fascinating, compelling tour of the many and varied printed resources available to those who are either seeking to improve their skills or broaden their frames of reference – or both.

A voracious reader in addition to being an accomplished landscape architect and watershape designer, he has not only described numerous volumes on these pages, but has also gone to great and effective lengths to demonstrate how the information contained in the books and other resources he's chosen to review can be applied to the task of designing, engineering and building quality watershapes.

'She focuses her attention on how we, as designers, can (and deliberately should) do our best to maximize positive emotional impact.'
Book Notes, June 2009

Modern Masters

Emotional Intelligence: Looking inward to define clients' desires. Jun 09:66

'In the past few years, increasing numbers of my clients want exterior designs that clearly relate to the architecture of their homes.'
Book Notes, February 2009

Art History/Design Heritage

Architectural Majesty: Finding inspiration right around the corner. May 09:66

Defining Resources: Schooled by the value of experience. Nov 09:74

Designing in Style: Digging deep into architectural looks. Feb 09:66

Revealing Our Past: Rediscovering a great landscape architect. Jul 09:62

The Most Energy Efficient, Earth Friendly, Pool System In The World!

Jandy believes that more energy efficient pools are achieved by the way the pool equipment is designed – not just by changing the product name to sound more environmentally friendly or "green."

By focusing on the pool equipment as a complete system, instead of just a few individual components, our engineering team designed the Jandy equipment set to perform at the highest efficiency possible.

Our proprietary Versa Plumb® design is the foundation for efficiency and hydraulic integrity – hydraulic integration by design.
