Thinking With Your Eyes

French designer Logan Guinard relocated nearly 6,000 miles from his home to establish a career in California's Coachella Valley. He came with faith in himself, a design education, practical experience but little else. In just two years, he has become established as a designer working for high-end clients who want only the best.

Liquid Glass (classic)

The relationship between glass and water can be a powerful one, John Gilbert Luebtow explained in this vintage WaterShapes feature. A modernist sculptor who uses water to spectacular effect in some of his work, he explores the nature of that relationship while describing three major projects in which the 'visual dance' between water and glass is expressed in multi-dimensional shapes and sweeping, organic lines.
